Teddy Roosevelt is playing the hoodlum assault game too brash. He is making himself liable to suspicion.

The Indian agent at Vinta, Indian Territory, died the other day because he failed to recognize the difference between toadstools and mushrooms.

A contemporary says the United States have given the cue in China. There was already an abundance of cues in China, too many of them, in in fact. Every Chinaman had one of his own.

That New York Ice Trust is one of the standbys of the Republican spell-binders. But all of its directors are Republicans and its President, Morse, says 93 per cent. of its stockholders are.

If that young $75 a month clerk in that New Jersey bank who got away with and dissipated $100,000 of the bank's money in about two years, had been given time he might have developed into a great financier.

The New York Mail and Express, McKinley paper, rises to remark that "there is nothing left of the tawdry effigy of imperialism save an odor of paint and a lot of sawdust stuffing." Bryan has knocked the stuffing out of it.

About one-half or more of the professors and students in the Chicago University have taken to eating onions voluntarily on account of their healthful properties, and the other half have gone to eating them in self-defence.

A Kansas City preacher, who was unappreciated, overworked and underpaid, has resigned and gone to selling sewing machines, which he finds more congenial. Perhaps he may be a better sewing machine seller than preacher.

Prince Ludwig Ferdinand, of Bavaria, is a very popular fellow. He is an M. D. and practices his profession. He charges the poor nothing, but when called to see rich [illegible]ents he makes them pay well. These fees he uses in providing medicines and delicacies for his poor patients. His income from other sources enables him to do this. In addition to his free practice he supports a free hospital. He is a Prince, indeed.

Will Have No Circuses.

Some people—and of course they're of the younger set—are wondering why none of the half dozen circuses touring North Carolina this year will visit Wilmington. It is stated that several advance agents who have been here have found the city and county taxes on the better class of shows so high as to be simply prohibitory. The tax by the city, they say, is even higher than last year and they cannot give a performance when practically all the gate receipts are required to pay revenue to the city and county.

Saginaw Arrived in Port.

The Clyde steamship Saginaw did not get in from her Georgetown trip until shortly before 12 o'clock last night. Usually she leaves for New York on Saturday morning, but owing to her lateness in arriving from New York last week and heavy northeast winds on the trip from Georgetown, she did not get in until last night, as stated. She will probably clear for New York this evening or to-morrow.

The River Steamboats.

The steamer A. J. Johnson arrived this morning at 12.30 o'clock from Cedar Creek on the Cape Fear river with a large cargo of cotton and naval stores. The Hurt came in a little earlier from same the destination. Both will clear to morrow for points on the Cape Fear. The Hawes has not returned from her trip up Black river.

DIAMOND INVESTMENT CONTRACT.

Shareholders Are Now Wondering if They Have Been Fooled.

Those who held "Diamond Investment Contracts," a number of which were secured by an agent here several months ago, are wondering if they have been "hoodoed." A number of citizens went into the scheme, paying $1.25 initiation fee and a similar amount each week for twenty weeks, at the end of which time investors understood they would receive a diamond valued at $40 or the amount in cash, if they preferred. The total amount paid in upon each share is $26.25 and it is easily seen that the investment was regarded as a good one, which the agent very plausibly explained was made possible by the large number of "lapses" or those who failed to keep up payment for the time specified in the contract.

Yesterday was the day depositors expected payment, but instead came a circular saying that if holders of contracts would continue longer the payment would be guaranteed, all of which, it is claimed, is in accordance with a strict reading of the contract, but which conflicts with the understanding of many investors here, who confidently expected their money at the end of the first twenty weeks.

The amount of investment in the scheme by Wilmington people is said to be more than two thousand dollars.

As a result of a conference of a number of shareholders at the Masonic Temple last night, it was decided to send an attorney at once to the home office in Baltimore, Md., to investigate the matter of payments. W. J. Bellamy, Esq., will leave this morning for a conference with the managers of the concern.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED.

Will Begin Active Work for Col. Waddell's Success in the Primary.

The president of the Waddell Democratic Club which was formed Friday night, has made the following announcement of committee men from each ward and township in the county to take up the matter of instituting a vigorous campaign in the interest of Col. A. M. Waddell's candidacy for the United States Senate:

First Ward—Marion Woolard, Capt. John Barry, Martin Rathjen.
Second Ward—J. G. L. Gieschen, Martin O'Brien, G. J. Boney.
Third Ward—E. S. Lathrop, Col. Walker Taylor, C. W. Yates.
Fourth Ward—W. F. Robertson, Jos. H. Watters, Charles W. Worth.
Fifth Ward—John Sheehan, J. M. McGowan, B. F. King.
Harnett Township—C. H. Alexander, R. O. Grant, G. W. Westbrook.
Cape Fear Township—R. W. Bordeaux, S. T. Kerr, T. J. Belcher.
Masonboro Township—D. J. Fergus, B. S. Montford, James Walton.
Federal Point—E. H. Freeman, J. B. Brinkley, W. H. Biddle.

The gentlemen composing above committee are requested to meet at the City Hall on Monday night, at 8 o'clock to formulate plans for the campaign—all are expected to attend.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONFERENCE.

Executive Committee Met Last Night and Reorganized—Meeting Thursday.

The Executive Committee of the Interdenominational Sunday School Conference held its first meeting of the season in the Y. M. C. A. parlors last evening. Dr. W. U. Galloway, the president, presided. After a general discussion of the work of the ensuing year, it was decided that the first Fall meeting of the Sunday School Conference be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night, the 18th instant, in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.

Dr. Geo. C. Worth, who has recently returned from China, will speak on his personal experiences in China. It is earnestly requested that all members of the conference and all others who are interested in the Sunday school work will attend.

A full programme of the meeting will be announced later.

The Peanut Crop.

County Commissioner W. F. Alexander, who was in the city yesterday to attend the meeting of the Board, brought a practical illustration of the shortness of the peanut crop by reason of the continued drought during the growing and maturing period of the plant. On one peanut vine of the Virginia variety which Mr. Alexander showed to a reporter, there were 83 well and partially matured pods, while there were 90 faulty ones of no commercial value whatever. Mr. Alexander feels no hesitancy in saying that the crop is off fully 50 per cent.

The Strike at Caswell.

Mr. William Weeks, of the Southport firm of Pullan & Weeks, contractors for a part of the extensive improvement now going on at Fort Caswell, was here yesterday and says that his firm was victorious in the strike with a number of colored laborers last week. The strikers were being paid 80 cents per day, but because they struck, Messrs. Pullan & Weeks substituted them with other laborers at a slight advance in price. This appears to be a pretty good solution for the smaller strikes.

Mr. Turrentine Took Charge.

Mr. Ottis Bass and wife left yesterday for New York, where they will make their future home. Mr. T. Morgan Turrentine, who succeeds Mr. Bass as manager of Murphy & Company's brokerage office in Wilmington, took charge of the business yesterday. The office of Mun, Sons & Company, which Mr. Turrentine conducted on Princess street, has been closed.

Murchison, who is so well and popularly known to the people of Wilmington where he has so many business interests, has just graduated after a three years course in architecture from the celebrated L' Ecole des Beaux Artes, of Paris. Mr. Murchison has on previous occasions shown by unexampled work a decided talent in architecture and with his post graduate course in France, he is now probably the best equipped architect in America and, as has been said, he is now eminently fitted to construct everything from "a Chinese pagoda to a French palace."

First Step Taken Toward Prosecuting the Christian Science Healer.

A special to the Raleigh Post from Newbern yesterday says:

"The grand jury to-day made a presentment against Miss Hatcher Harrison, the Christian Scientist, for employing the "Healing art," or practicing medicine in this State without a license. The matter grew out of the death of Harry Parsons, whose taking off has created wide discussion of the Christian Science claims and dogmas. As the matter now stands the presentment goes to the grand jury of the February term of the criminal court, and it will rest with them whether or not they shall find a true bill and the case be tried at the February term of court."

A DISTINCTION WITHOUT A DIFFERENCE.

Mr. McKinley has already had two defenders in the matter of the Sulu treaty, which recognized both of the "twin relics of barbarism," polygamy and slavery, but he had one too many, for one of these practically contradicts the other, and discredits the whole business. Mr. Bryan in his speeches in reply to questions about the disfranchising of negroes in the South has called the attention of his interrogators to the inconsistency of Republicans carping at restricted suffrage in the South when the Republican President of the United States, the chief representative of the party, whom Republicans are trying so hard to re-elect, recognized both polygamy and slavery in the Sulu islands, and a Republican Congress with the approval of the President passed bills providing for qualified suffrage in Porto Rico and Hawaii, which practically disqualify nearly all the black men in one and nearly all the natives in the other.

Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn, rushed to the defence of the President in a letter in which he called Mr. Bryan's attention to some instructions which he dug up out of the documents in the War Department, sent by the President to Gen. Otis two months after the treaty had been made. Mr. Bryan wrote a reply which showed Mr. Meiklejohn what a ridiculous figure he cut as a defender.

About the time Mr. Meiklejohn was performing with his pen Gen. Grosvenor, Mr. McKinley's friend and reputed spokesman, was performing with his jaws. He is thus quoted:

"'I want to condemn without qualification the assault inaugurated by Mr. Bryan in the form of a personal attack upon President McKinley and which has been reiterated from one end of this country to the other by the smaller lights of the Democratic party. Over and over again it has been charged that the President had made a treaty with the Sultan of Sulu and others, by which slavery heretofore existing in that country had been ratified and affirmed by the President.

"'The statement was a wicked and malicious falsehood when it was made and has been repeated by others, either in ignorance of the facts or in disregard for the truth. In the first place, no treaty was made with the Sultan as described and asserted, but it is true that General Bates, acting on behalf of the armed forces of the United States, entered into temporary agreement with the Sultan and others by which, if it had been approved by the President and by Congress, slavery would have been recognized and possibly fortified in that territory. But it must be borne in mind that the arrangement was only a temporary one, intended to prevent an outbreak of war at the time when Aguinaldo had a large force and which while it was in no sense a treaty, was a moral obligation for the time being, for the President had agreed to it and confirmed it.'"

"General Grosvenor declared that there was no such thing in the modern acceptation of the term as slavery in Sulu, and that the Moro slave, so-called, becomes a member of the owner's family, enjoying certain privileges, and that he even voluntarily sells himself to some one who is willing to pay for the privilege of taking him or her under his thatch and installing him or her as a member of his household. It is a species of paternal, arcadian slavery that Gen. Grosvenor seems to think rather lovely. Perhaps Mr. McKinley didn't know it was so nice when he issued those instructions to Gen. Otis, otherwise he might have instructed Gen. Otis to amend the phraseology of the treaty, or of Grosvenor's "agreement," and substitute some other word for "slavery," and then let the thing run on perpetually as it has been running since the treaty or "agreement" was made.

Gen. Grosvenor tells us that the "agreement" was only "temporary", and that if it had been approved by the President and by Congress slavery would have been "recognized and possibly fortified in that territory," but it seems the President did confirm it, which made it "morally as binding as a treaty," and he confirmed it with that provision about slavery in it. That is substantially what Mr. Bryan charged. Gen. Grosvenor says he confirmed it, but the thing being only temporary it couldn't do much harm, while Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn says he didn't recognize that provision in it all, so here is another conflict between the defenders. Both can't be right, so neither acquits the President of the charge made by Mr. Bryan that he recognized slavery in the Sulu islands.

THE DRIFT TO BRYAN IN OHIO.

Ohio is one of the battle grounds in this campaign. It is McKinley's and Hanna's State, and therefore they have personal as well as political reasons for making a hard fight to hold it. It is normally a Republican State and under ordinary circumstances might be safely counted upon to go Republican, but there is a marked change in public sentiment there, as there is in other States, which gives the Democrats high hopes of carrying it. As showing the drift to Bryan we quote the following which we find in the Charlotte News, of Friday:

Mayor McCall this morning received a letter from Mr. Charles W. Constantine, who, with his wife, spent last year here, looking after his interest in several mines in this county, and who will be remembered as a man of fine sense and judgment. Mr. Constantine says, in regard to the presidential outlook in Ohio:

"If Ohio does not go for Bryan in November next, I will be very much disappointed. The conditions were never so favorable and everything points to our carrying the State. Mayor Jones is supporting Bryan earnestly and very effectively, and I believe that he will carry 30 per cent. of his vote of last fall with him. Of course the majority of them were Democrats, but the gain will be from 30,000 to 40,000. His (Mayor Jones') vote was 156,000. This vote, with the American-German and Irish Republican vote that will come to us on the imperial question; the gold Democrats; the organized labor vote, which is nearly solid; a few negroes; the fact that the railroads are not coercing their men this year are some of the factors, against which is the full dinner pail and prosperity. My best information assures Indiana and Kentucky."

Mr. Converse is a citizen of Ohio, who is interested in mining and other enterprises in Mecklenburg county, and as he here gives his views in a private letter, he cannot be suspected of writing simply for political effect. What he says is, moreover, sustained by testimony from other sources.

The Republican spell-binders talk a great deal about commercialism, as one of the objects of expansion. They know all about it. The Republican party is a commercial party. It is operated on the trading principle. Its runners are all in for gain.

The Washington Post is a Gold Democratic paper, which does not agree with the Democratic party in its opposition to the administration in its policy of expansion, but it sees the folly and the fraud of making the acquisition of Louisiana, Florida and other territory on this hemisphere a precedent to justify forcible expansion in the Philippines, and thus pricks that bubble:

"An amusing feature of this campaign is the Republican effort to defend its foreign policy by appealing to Thomas Jefferson, who negotiated the Louisana purchase. It is amusing because it has not the slightest reference to the existing condition of affairs, but it would be offensive were it conceivable that well informed and thoughtful men would take it seriously. Our acquisition of the Florida and Louisiana and Texas territories has absolutely nothing in common with the present administration's policy. Its not our purpose to discuss the acquisition of the Philippines, for that act, whether wise or unwise, is a thing accomplished, and not, therefore, to be debated. We merely pause to say, in passing, that even if this government, in time past, had seen fit to absorb both Canada and Mexico, the fact would have furnished no sort of precedent or authority for what this government is doing now. In the first instance, we should have been adding to our own territory; expanding upon our own hemisphere; strengthening and protecting ourselves. The control of the Mississippi river was a necessary feature of our scheme of empire. The control of the St Lawrence was equally important, and we shall live to regret our failure to include that in our plans and achievements of the early years of the nineteenth century.

"But the two propositions are hopelessly discordant. It is one thing for a nation to fortify itself, to create a powerful frontier; to absorb all territory indispensable to its integrity and perpetuation. All that is sanctioned by a law of nature—the law of self-defense; but conquest in remote parts of the world is a very different matter, and has not the justification above defined We do not assert that commercial expansion is a thing to be avoided or discouraged. On the contrary, we realise that this, the greatest producing nation of the world, is warranted in opening all possible avenues of trade and establishing all possible markets for its promotion. What we insist upon is that commercial expansion does not necessarily mean the conquest of friendless and unprotected peoples and the forcible destruction of their political autonomy. And what we especially deny is that the Republican policy of today has the smallest, the most shadowy, warrant for quoting Jefferson in its defense.

This is a correct statement of the difference between the expansion of the Fathers and McKinley expansion, the first of which was statesmanship based on patriotism and was honest, the second of which is based on greed and supported by fraudulent pretence, with nothing in it to commend but everything to condemn. As we are in the Philippines by fraud we have no right to be there and the honest and the truly American thing to do is to get out as soon as we can.

REPUBLICAN TRUST HYPOCRISY EXPOSED.

One of the strongest and most convincing exposures of the hypocrisy of the Republican party managers in their dealing with the Trust question was that made by ex-Attorney-General Monnett, of Ohio, in his speech in Columbus, Friday night. Mr. Monnett was a Republican; as the law officer of the State of Ohio he believed it to be his duty to enforce the anti-trust laws of that State and he instituted proceedings against the Standard Oil Company. In every movement he made he encountered obstructions; the Standard Oil influence was felt everywhere, in the courts and out, and he found himself not only fighting the Standard Oil Company, but his party leaders who stood in with it.

The result was that his efforts failed, and when the State convention met to nominate candidates for State offices the Standard Oil influence defeated him for re-nomination. As a faithful officer he was sacrificed, as every Republican who honestly opposes Trusts and advocates the enforcement of the laws against them will be where they are strong enough to crush.

Mr. Monnett knows what he is talking about, for he talks from experience and he knows the story of Republican hypocrisy in dealing with Trusts, for he has been in a position to fully test it. With seventy-six district attorneys in the Union there have been thirteen suits instituted under the Sherman law, and only three of these under this administration, which has been indulging in so much stage-talk against Trusts. Such an arraignment, and from such a source, ought to be an object lesson to the people who read it to show that they have no relief to expect from Trust monopoly and oppression from the men who represent the Republican party, all of whom are owned by the Trusts.

When the students at Ann Arbor, Mich., interrupted and tried to worry Mr. Bryan while he was speaking, Thursday, he didn't flare up and show his teeth like Teddy Roosevelt is in the habit of doing, nor herald it over the country as an outrageous assault, but he answered them pleasantly and after the meeting, when he learned that some of the more boisterous of the boys had been arrested, he interceded in their behalf and asked for their discharge, saying he felt that their behavior was caused more by boyish thoughtlessness than by malice. Little things sometimes show the difference between men.

— Religion is not an opinion about righteousness; it is the practice of righteousness. Religion is the life of conscience.—Lyman Abbott.

Not till life's heat is cooled,
The headlong rush slowly to a quiet pace,
And every purblind passion that has ruled
Our noisier years at last
Spurs us in vain, and, weary of the race,
We care no more who loses or who wins—
Ah! not till all the best of life seems past
The best of life begins.

To toil for only fame,
Handclappings and the fickle gusts of praise,
For place or power or gold to gild a name
Above the grave whereto
All paths will bring us, were to lose our days—
We, on whose ears youth's passing bell has tolled—
In blowing bubbles, even as children do,
Forgetting we grow old.

But the world wideus when
Such hope of trivial gain as once led us lies
Broken among our childhood's toys; for then
We win to self control!
And mail ourselves in manhood, and there rise
Upon us from the vast and windless height
Those clearer thoughts that are unto the soul
What stars are to the night.

— Newton Enterprise: The Newton Hosiery Mill has increased its capacity to 500 dozen pair per day, which makes it one of the largest mills in the South.

— Yadkin Ripple: Small-pox seems to be getting a start in some of the surrounding counties. A short time ago we noted the appearance of the disease near Rural Hall, in Forsyth county, and last week it was discovered in Wilkes.

— Stanly Enterprise: "It never rains but pours." A murder and the discovery and capture of the two poison murderers, proved quite a storm in our usually quiet county last week. It means a heavy court in December, if the Governor grants the petition of our commissioners for the holding of civil and criminal term at the same sitting.

— Roanoke Beacon: The artesian well bored for this town by Mr. P. G. Ellis has proved a perfect success. He got a nice flow of water and it is supposed to contain valuable medical properties. Mayor Smith has sent some of the water to the State Chemist for analysis, but has received no report from it as yet. The well is about 200 feet deep and flows about ten gallons per minute.

— Asheboro Courier: There was an effort to indict the registrar of Cedar Grove township at Greensboro Federal Court this week, but the grand jury ignored the bill. Finally, they made a presentment and at next term it is hoped to get further testimony. We learn that Madison Hammond and Lowney Johnson and two negroes are the witnesses who went before the grand jury.

— Newbern Journal: The grand jury made a presentment in the Christian Science case. The presentment is against Miss Hatchie Harrison for employing the "healing art" or practicing medicine without a license, contrary to the laws of North Carolina. The matter will now go before the grand jury of the February term of the Criminal Court and that jury will decide whether or not to find a true bill. In case a true bill is found the case will come before the February term of court. A number of witnesses were examined Friday by the grand jury.

SUNDAY SELECTIONS.

— Keep your temper, and if your temper is a good one it will go far toward keeping you.

— "To persuade one soul to lead a better life is to leave the world better than you found it."

— Behold, God is great, and we know him not, neither can the number of his years be searched.

— A light never wastes any time looking for a prettier place to shine in. It leaves that for the Master to do.

— There are two sorts of content. One is connected with exertion, the other with habits of indolence. The first is a virtue; the other a vice.—Maria Edgeworth.

— There ought to be a fragrance about our social life as Christians wholly different from the sweetest possible fragrance of non-Christian lives. This sweeter fragrance is due to our fellowship with Christ.

— Life lies before us as a huge quarry lies before the architect; he deserves not the name of an architect except when out of this fortuitous mass he can combine with the greatest economy and fitness and durability some form, the pattern of which originated in his spirit.—Goethe

— Consider how august a privilege it is, when angels are present and archangels throng around, when cherubim and seraphim encircle with their blaze the throne, that a mortal may approach with unrestrained confidence, and converse with heaven's dread sovereign! Oh, what honor was ever conferred like this.—Chrysostom.

— Jesus Christ asks for nothing more than every science, and every pursuit, and every business, and every piece of trading requires—limit yourself to your own work, and let the rest go. It will make strong men. Here is the obligation, and it is borne in upon us by consideration of reasonable self regrad—"lay aside every weight."—Dr. Alex. MacLaren.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— Thousands of Republicans in Ohio are looking forward with great satisfaction to the demolition of the Hanna machine. What a wreckage there will be when the Boss goes down.—Cincinnati Enquirer, Dem.

— To the surprise of a great many people President McKinley made Senator Frye, of Maine, a member of the Paris Peace Commission. By way of returning the compliment Senator Frye says that McKinley is as great a President as was Washington or Lincoln.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

— Mr. Bryan's reply to Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn on the Sulu slavery puts that superserviceable official out in one round. Mr. Bryan reminds Secretary Root's assistant that "the Republican party, with the approval of the Administration, has adopted the theory that the Constitution does not follow the flag, and there the thirteenth amendment does not interfere with slavery in the Sulu Archipelago." "If," he says, "the Constitution itself cannot reach the West Indies (Porto Rico,) how can the thirteeth amendment find its way across the Pacific into Asia?" The Administration must put a bigger gun than Meiklejohn into the fight if it expects to score against Mr. Bryan.—New York World, Dem.

TWINKLINGS.

— Sardonic: "He says he would not think of accepting money for his political influence." "No," answered Senator Sorghum, "he doesn't have to think. It has got to be second nature with him."—Washington Star.

— Like the Concert of Europe: "This company," said the impresario in despair, "reminds me of the concert of Europe." "In what way?" "Every individual member of it wants to be the principal soloist."—Chicago Post.

— Undoubted Evidence—"What magnificent trout! How much did you pay for them?" "I have documents to show that they cost me $17.50 apiece." "Then you did catch them yourself, didn't you? I suspected you of having bought them from a dealer."—Chicago Tribune.

— "Cook," said Mrs. Hostess, solemnly, at the eleventh hour, "we have forgotten all about the entrees." And cook, in her excitement, responded with: "Lor', mum, so we have! If we ain't a couple of blunder-headed idiots, may I never!"—Tit-Bits.

— Tom—"I paid a visit to Miss Sweety's house yesterday, and found her old man at home." Dick—"Ha! What did the old bear do—kick you out?" Tom—"Oh, no! He was very polite; asked me to call again." Dick—"You don't mean it? Why, he never lets any one call on his daughter." Tom—"I wasn't calling on her. I was trying to collect a bill the old man owes the firm."—Philadelphia Press.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from Pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of Consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c. and $1.00. Rabbi David Klein, one of the oldest citizens of Columbus, O., writes: "I take pleasure in saying to Dr. Hartman in regard to Peruna, that it affords me great pleasure to testify to the curative merits of your medicine. Peruna is a well-tried and widely used remedy. Especially as a specific for catarrh of the stomach it cannot be excelled. Peruna will do all that is claimed for it."

Rabbi David Klein.

People afflicted with catarrh of the stomach complain of lassitude, all-tired-out feelings, their blood becomes thin, nervous system deranged, food seems to do them no good, continuous and increasing weakness. The unfortunate

Mr. Alex. Carter of Van Buren, Carter Co., Mo., says: "I had been troubled with dyspepsia and indigestion since 1879. The best physicians in the country could do me no good.

I visited the Mullanphy hospital in St. Louis and received no benefit. The attending physician told me I had narrowing of the outlet of the stomach, and the only remedy was to have it cut out, which I refused to have done. I then visited West Baden, Ind.; Las Vegas Hot Springs, New Mexico; Sweet Springs, Mo., and Monitou, Col. I also took a great many different kinds of medicine recommended for dyspepsia, but found no relief. Last February I read a testimonial for Peruna in the Central Baptist that suited my case and I determined at once to try it. I have taken two bottles of Peruna and four of Man-a-lin, and I feel like a new man. None of my friends believed I would get well. I would not take any money for the good your remedies have done me."

In catarrh of the stomach, as well as in catarrh of any other part of the body, Peruna is the remedy. As it has often been said, if Peruna will cure catarrh of one part, it will cure catarrh of any other part of the body.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The cotton market opened easy, with prices unchanged to six points lower, and was unusually irregular all the short session as a result of alternate waves of buying and selling of a week-end settlement nature. The early dealing was a bare response to weak Liverpool cables and a heavier crop movement than originally estimated. On the down turn nervous shorts hurriedly turned for profits and soon after the call there was a marked change for the better in feeling, due mainly to this support. A bullish review of the week's developments South by the Chronicle, and a government chart showing continued rains east of the Mississippi valley were factors which the bears were loath to overlook; consideration that prices were down nearly seventy-five points from the top and that the long interest had been greatly reduced. Light investment buying for account of Wall street parties became something of a feature as the session progressed. Speculation was not of a vigorous character at any time in the forenoon. The market closed weak, with prices net four to ten points lower.

SHE WANTED GOLD.

One Woman's Idea of the Money to Deposit in a Bank.

Most comical stories are told at the expense of the fair sex regarding their lack of familiarity with banks and their methods. One came to the ears of the Saunterer that apparently has the merit of newness.

"My wife had saved up her pin money, or what she hadn't had occasion to use of it," said the relator of the story, "until she had $40 in bills of various denominations. This she was extremely desirous of securing gold for, and every day when I came home to dinner she would haul me over the coals because I had forgotten to procure the shining metal. Finally she said she would attend to the matter herself. That evening she greeted me with a triumphant smile.

"'I got my gold,' she exclaimed as soon as I entered the house, 'but I had a time in doing it, though.'

"Then she told me how she had gone to the mint with her bills and been refused the coveted coin because the notes weren't good notes. Next she hustled around to a bank and secured four $10 gold pieces. These didn't suit her because they weren't new and shiny, so she trotted back to the mint with them and exchanged them for two double eagles, fresh from the dies. I listened to her recital and asked her to let me see the coins.

"'Let you see them!' she exclaimed in surprise. 'Why, I haven't them any more, you goose!'

"'Haven't them any more?' I repeated. 'What did you do with them?'

"She looked at me with mingled scorn and contempt.

"'I deposited them in the —— Savings bank, of course. That's what I wanted the gold for. What did you think I was going to do with them? Keep them around the house to look at?'

"But I was too busy laughing just then and for half an hour afterward to make any reply."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

How It Once Played a Mean Trick on Frederick Villiers.

E. W. Sabel, in The Saturday Evening Post, tells an anecdote of Frederick Villiers, the famous war correspondent. Villiers had been under fire for some days, the enemy bombarding the force to which the artist was attached, so that the arrival of a shell was a commonplace circumstance to be treated in the usual way. Out of this ordeal he came unscathed to London and was strolling down the crowded Strand.

On a sudden the pedestrians were appalled to see him fling himself at full length upon the greasy, muddy pavement and there lie on his face, rigid as a dead man. From all directions men rushed to render him assistance. They turned him over to rub his hands and unbotton his collar, expecting to find him in a fit. But no. On his face they found not the pain and pallor of epilepsy, but astonishment and mud. Villiers, when they laid hold of him, quickly jumped to his feet, shook the mud from his hands and clothes and then looked around for an explanation of his own apparently idiotic act. The explanation was forthcoming.

A few yards behind him stood a horse and cart. The carter had a moment after Villiers passed pulled the pin and allowed the cart box to dump upon the ground a load of gravel. The heavy beams of the cart, of course, struck the wood paving with a resounding "dull thud," and the clean gravel hissed out with an evil roar. This combination of sounds, the war artist declared, was identical with the striking of a live shell, and Villiers, forgetting that he then stood some thousands of miles from the seat of war, automatically flung himself down to await the dreadful explosion.

He Got the Information.

An English paper tells this story of the late Joseph Whitaker, the publisher of Whitaker's Almanack: "For the first issue he wanted, along with similar information, the amount of the salaries received by a number of certain high functionaries in the civil service. Application to these personages themselves was uniformly met with only flat refusals. Accordingly the Almanack appeared with a list of the officials, each credited with a purely imaginary sum.

"The result was instantaneous. Hardly had the first edition come out before those whose salaries had been underrated were impelled by 'amour propre' to write indignant corrections, while the polite statements of the inland revenue authorities were similarly efficacious where the alleged amount was at all in excess of the actual income."

When the Dark Days Come.

The money spent in buying a golf outfit is not entirely wasted. The golf sticks are of the right size for stirring clothes in the wash boiler in the days to come, and the sack to carry them in will be just right for a clothespin bag or a slipper holder.—Atchison Globe.

Time's Changes.

Before marriage a man's display of affection is very apt to be overdone. After marriage it is more likely to be rare.—Chicago News.

Love is a happiness, yet it is father, mother and first cousin to a heap of trouble.—Milwaukee Journal.

Spoiled children are not confined to those of tender years.—Buffalo Times.

THE STORY OF LIFE.

Only the same old story, full of a different scene;
Sometimes a smile of pleasure and then a wail of pain;
Sometimes a flash of sunlight, again the drifting rain.

Sometimes it seems to borrow from the crimson rose its hue;
Sometimes black with thunder, then changed to a brilliant blue;
Sometimes false as satan, sometimes as heaven true.

Only the same old story, but, oh, how the changes ring!
Prophet and priest and peasant, soldier and scholar and king;
Sometimes the warmest hand clasp leaves in the palm a sting.

Sometimes in the hush of even, sometimes in the midday strife,
Sometimes with dovelike calmness, sometimes with passion rife,
We dream it, write it, live it, this weird, wild story of life.

—Pearson's Weekly.

CONKLING'S GREATEST EFFORT.

Where the Famous Senator Made the Speech of His Life.

"The best political fighting is done in a convention where there is stubborn opposition," said an old delegate to many national gatherings. "The most effective oratory is heard where speakers realize that they must be convincing. The difference in the speeches of Conkling and Garfield in the Chicago convention was as marked as the personality of the men themselves. And yet undoubtedly each man caused intelligent and conservative delegates to halt in their opinions. Conkling, in nominating Grant, aroused the convention and the galleries to the summit of enthusiasm. It seemed as if it could never be subdued. The speech of Garfield, in which he presented the name of Sherman, had, however, exactly that effect. It was necessary that it should be so in order to quiet the tumult started by Conkling.

"Great as Conkling's speech is conceded to have been, the convention and the galleries did not hear his greatest effort, and unfortunately there is no record of it. It was unwritten. The day before the ballot there was a meeting of the 306, as the Grant phalanx is known in political history. Some attempts had been made to break it. Strong overtures had been presented to several of the 306. The meeting to which I refer was held in a room under the roof of the hotel. We met there secretly. We were pledged to say nothing to others about our caucus. It was a hot day, and a skylight was opened to admit air. Mr. Conkling got up to make his last talk to the 306 before they went to the convention. It was not a speech to convince those who heard it. There was no occasion for that. But it was intended as a warning against threatened combinations, and a reassertion of fealty to our candidate. Conkling was at his best, and I had seen him under all circumstances.

"Just as he was beginning there was a disturbance on the roof. A reporter who had got an inkling of the meeting had crawled up there and flattened himself so that he might hear the proceedings. A party of linemen on the roof at the same time, but ignorant of the meeting below or of the reporter's presence at the skylight, came along, and the reporter, thinking they were after him, skedaddled. It was this disturbance that caused Conkling to stop, and then the skylight was closed. The incident had no effect upon Conkling's effort, but it prevented the reporter from shorthanding what we all conceded to be a much greater effort than the one made by Conkling the night he placed Grant in nomination. I know this is saying a good deal, but I heard both, as did 305 others, and our opinion on the speech in the hotel room was unanimous. Several times a number of us asked Conkling to write the speech he made in the room, but he always replied that it couldn't be done; that it was an inspiration and that inspirations never repeated themselves."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Brougham's Joke.

Lord Brougham was the author of a rather sharp practical joke, the victim being the London Times. The editor of that paper was a particular enemy of the great statesman, and it occurred to the latter that it would be a good joke to give out that he was dead and see what kind of obituary notice the great London newspaper would give.

Lord Brougham was traveling in the provinces at the time, and the report of his death was soon circulated. A representative of The Times called at his lordship's residence to verify the rumor. There he was assured the report was indeed true and in proof was shown the coffin and pall, which had already been laid out.

The next day The Times appeared with a notice of Brougham's death, in which the statesman's life and character were depicted in the most virulent terms. It was very small satisfaction to Lord Brougham when, a few days later, he exacted an abject apology from the editor.—Chambers' Journal.

A Nervy Publisher.

In the "Personal Recollections of Sutherland Edwards," English music critic, the author tells of Tinsley, the publisher, who "came up to London in a billycock hat on the top of a hay cart." He proposed to begin as a publisher by buying a book from Miss Braddon and offered her £1,000 for it. Unfortunately, he had not any money, so he went to some paper makers, told them that he had made a contract with Miss Braddon, and they agreed to give him credit for the paper.

Then he went to a large firm of printers and said that the paper makers would furnish the paper, and he would be glad if they would undertake the printing. This they agreed to do, whereupon he returned to the paper makers and borrowed the money to pay Miss Braddon. The novel in question was "Lady Audley's Secret."

A Candidate From Pohick.

I'm feelin patriotic, an I want it understood
That I am willin to be activ to promote my country's good.
They say they want a president who never had a taint
Of politics about him, who has wakened no complaint
Because he 'sociated with a syndicate or trust
An sech wicked institutions of our social upper crust.
I talked to 'Mandy 'bout it. She advised me fair an straight;
So start your printin presses. I am now a candidate.

She took me fairly by surprise when, after I'd explained,
She showed enthusiasm which could scarcely be restrained.
Says she: "If they are lookin with an ardor so intense
For a man to run for office who has no experience,
Who is innocent an guileless as a robin rapt in song
An is ready fur to buy the first gold brick that comes along,
Why, git your speeches ready jes' as speedy as you can.
There ain't no doubt 'bout it. You're the long expected man."

Fling out your starry banners! Start your torchlights on parade!
Fur 'Mandy says it's all O. K. You needn't be afraid.
There is eastern aspirations, there is booms out in the west,
But I'm the only feller that kin truly meet the test.
Of course I don't know what it is a president must do,
But I'm willin fur to learn it, if it takes a week or two.
So gather round, good people—I'm a prize—as grab me quick!
You want to get a candidate from Pohick on the crick.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 14.

STRIKING COAL MINERS'

Convention Decided to Accept the Ten Per Cent. Advance in Wages on Certain Conditions.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 13.—The anthracite coal miners now on strike, after a two days' convention, late this afternoon decided to accept the ten per cent. net increase in wages offered by the mine owners, providing they will continue the payment of the advance until next April and will abolish the sliding scale. If the operators consider the proposition unacceptable, the miners are willing to arbitrate the questions at issue. They also decided to contiue the strike until the operators agree to the convention's proposition.

Judging by the unanimity of the miners and by the determined stand taken by the operators, it is generally believed that along contest between the strikers and the mine owners is not unlikely.

There was great enthusiasm in the convention when the counter proposition to the operators was carried, and cheers were given for President Mitchell. The resolutions were drafted by a committee of thirteen, appointed at the morning session, of which the national president was chairman.

Mr. Mitchell in an, interview with a representative of the Associated Press on the outcome of the convention, said:

"The action of the delegates in convention to-day in accepting an advance of ten per cent. providing they receive assurances that the advance will continue in force until April 1st, next year, demonstrates that the miners are considerate of the public interests involved and are disposed to be conciliatory.

"I cannot understand any good reason why the operators should not accept the conditions named in the resolution. I, of course, hope that there will be a speedy termination of this contest, and I believe that in the future the operators will be disposed to treat with more consideration their employes than they have in the past."

The statement by the press committee, regarding the proceedings of the convention, says:

"While the motion was pending, President Mitchell addressed the convention, and took occasion to deny, positively, the statements made by some of the metropolitan papers charging that political influences were dominating the convention, and that the representatives of any political party had been in conference with him.

"When the question was put, the resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote, amid ringing cheers. At 4:15 P. M., the convention adjourned sine die."

President Mitchell and the other national officers now here will return to Hazelton Monday where the temporary national headquarters are located.

ROOSEVELT IN KENTUCKY.

An Enthusiastic Reception at Louisville. Met With Rough Treatment at Elizabethtown.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LOUISVILLE, KY., October 13.—Louisville to-night gave Governor Roosevelt an enthusiastic reception, the programme concluding with a crowded meeting at the auditorium. This was in contra-distinction to the greeting offered at Elizabethtown, the last stop before the special reached this city. At that place the Governor suffered the first indignity thrust upon him in the State. Bowling Green had cheered the Governor until his ears rang with plaudits, and Mumfordville gathered at the train where the speaker's stand was erected, receiving him with expressions of good will. But at Elizabethtown no sooner had the Governor mounted the platform, with General Buckner and other members of his party, than an attempt was made to break up the meeting. Small boys carried Bryan banners in the outskirts of the crowd and empty coal wagons were driven at full speed through the square. The steam whistle on a mill close by was blown loudly, and half a hundred men or more shouted "Hurrah for Bryan!" when the Governor began speaking.

Despite the fact that he had a soreness of his throat which had compelled him to shorten all his earlier speeches during the day, the Governor proceeded to make himself heard in spite of the noise in the crowd. Above the shriek of the steam whistle rang the words: "I call your attention to the attitude of Bryan's friends on the subject of law and order." Then he waved his hand to the crowd and continued:

"It is natural that the men who have tried to deprive Kentucky of a free ballot should be opposed to free speech. It is not extraordinary that the men who have stolen the Governorship and who seek to steal it again should not dare to hear the truth of history, but should seek to gag an American citizen even before he had uttered one word of his opinions in a political controversy."

This brought cheers and more interruptions and the Governor was urged not to further endanger his throat, but to permit a substitute to finish the programme. He rejected the suggestion, however, and spoke the full fifteen minutes allotted to him, and was escorted to the train by a large crowd.

"Just a put up job to break up the meeting," was Governor Roosevelt's comment, when he returned to his car, "but I guess I got back at them."

Chairman Burnett and Secretary Coombs, of the State Central committee, telegraphed news of the trouble to this city and urged local Republican organizations to redouble their efforts in showing Governor Roosevelt that Kentuckians are not lacking in courtesy and hospitality. When the train reached Louisville it was stormed by an admiring, curious, surging mob, which followed the party to the Galt House. Including the speech to-night Governor Roosevelt has addressed nine audiences in Kentucky since 9 o'clock when he spoke at Henderson. To-morrow he will rest quietly, reaching Lexington at 6 A. M. Monday.

The weekly bank statement shows: Loans $307,855,000, decrease $8,955,700; deposits $361,588,700, decrease $15,632,100; circulation $30,288,600, increase $172,800; legal tenders $59,601,900, decrease $3,538,600; specie $160,389,200, decrease $3,144,900; reserve $219,991,100, decrease $6,688,500.

CROWDS GATHER TO HEAR BRYAN.

Monster Meetings of the People at Many Places in President McKinley's State.

A MEMORABLE DAY IN OHIO.

Bryan's Answer to Roosevelt—The Army Bill—The Trusts—Attorney General Monnett—Forced to Abandon the Republican Party.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

AKRON, OHIO, Oct. 13.—A memorable day in the Bryan campaign in Ohio closed here to night with a monster meeting, but large as it was, it fell considerably behind the meeting at Mansfield which was the last important stopping place before reaching this city. Mansfield was said to have contained twice as many people as had ever before been gathered at that place to hear a political speech, the surrounding country for thirty or forty miles around being well represented. In his Mansfield speech Mr. Bryan took occasion to respond to one of the points in Governor Roosevelt's reply to one of Mr. Bryan's speeches. Mr. Bryan said:

"When this campaign first opened the Republican candidate for vice president made a speech at Detroit in which he said, 'Who is afraid of this army?' He had four soldiers stand up before the audience and he told the audience that the soldiers bore the same proportion to that audience that the standing army of 100,000 bore to the population of the United States. His answer to the charge that we had a large army was 'Who is afraid?' but my friends, that is not what is he saying now. Within a week that same candidate for vice-president, that militant member of the Republican ticket, had become and a few days ago he stated that we would not have had that army, but for the war in the Philippine islands. Why, they are trying now to explain it or excuse it, when the fact is, and I called attention to it once, that the President asked for the army two months before there was a war in the Philippine islands.

"But now there is another defence. The candidate for Vice President says that every intelligent observer knew that there would be trouble in the Philippines if the treaty was confirmed. Why, is it possible that when the President entered upon his colonial policy he knew there would be trouble in the Philippine islands? What becomes of the argument that there would be no trouble there if it were not for the people of this country who make speeches against imperialism? In his retreat he has become so scared that he has hidden behind a bill introduced by a Democratic Senator. Let me read you the text: 'The bill for the temporary increase which Mr. Bryan apparently seeks to persuade his hearers is a permanent increase, was introduced by Senator Cockrell, of Missouri, a Democratic supporter of Mr. Bryan, and the bulk of the patriotic Democrats in both houses voted for it.'

A Republican Measure.

"My friends that is a different bill. The President asked for an army of 100,000 and a Republican House of Representatives passed the bill, making the army 100,000 as the President asked, and when that Republican House did it, the treaty had been signed with Spain and there was not an arm raised against this nation anywhere. What was that bill introduced by Senator Cockrell? It was a substitute for the permanent army bill. It was the direct proposition which was presented to offset the proposition made by the Republican President. I want you to know that the Vice Presidential candidate of the Republican party, instead of defending the Republican measure making a permanent increase of the army to 100,000, tries to hide behind a Democratic measure which only made it a temporary one.

Senator Cockrell's Bill.

The bill of Senator Cockrell was supported by the Democrats and the Populists and the Silver Republicans of the Senate, and but for that opposition we would to-day have an army of 100,000 permanently, in this country. But our people defeated the Republican bill and Senator Cockrell's bill became a law. It was a substitute which the Republicans had to accept in that Senate. But that substitute expires next year and a Republican paper, the Chicago Tribune, has announced within a week that Secretary Root would ask the next Congress to make the army of 100,000 a permanent army. Now let the Republicans defend their large army. They cannot do it. No Republican will dare do it; and yet if you vote the Republican ticket, you will approve of the army and if the Republican party wins you will have a large army now of 100,000 with the prospect of an increase rather than a decrease.

Attorney General Monnett.

NEW LEXINGTON, OHIO, October 13.—Mr. Bryan referred in both his Circleville and Lancaster speeches to the case of Attorney General Monnett, of this State. At Lancaster he made that official the principal theme of his discourse, saying:

"I want to call the attention of Republicans to something which has taken place in their own State, and I want to ask the Republicans whether they can afford to endorse what has been done by the Republican party in this State. I see before me parents who are raising sons, and those parents are hoping for great things for their sons. I want to tell you what has occurred in connection with young men in Ohio.

"There was a young Republican of ability and of character nominated for attorney general of the State of Ohio. When he entered upon the duties of his office he took an oath to perform those duties to the best of his ability, and in the course of his duty he was called upon to commence suit under the laws of this State against a great private monopoly, and as soon as he commenced suit the company began its persecution and its opposition.

The Standard Oil Company,

"It first tried to frighten him out of doing his duty, then it tried to bribe him out of doing his duty, and when it could neither frighten or bribe it went to the Republican party and defeated him for doing his duty.

"I want to ask you parents whether you want to hold before your sons the ideal of the Republican party as it now stands, where a young man like Monnett must be driven out of the party because he dares to defend the laborer, the farmer and the business man from the extortion of private monopoly.

"Republican fathers, can you afford to tell your sons that it is better for a man to betray a trust than to do his duty? Can you tell your sons that it is better for a man to violate his oath of office than to risk the hostility of a great corporation.

Leave the Republican Party.

"If Monnett can leave the Republican party, cannot the farmer and laboring man and business man, whose interest he tried to protect, afford to leave the Republican party, or will you say that you are so wedded to the Republican party that you would rather stay with the Republicans and defend the monopolies of this country than to leave the Republican party even for a brief time in order to obtain relief from them."

Continuing, Mr. Bryan said that this opposition to the enforcement of laws was not confined to the State of Ohio, but was found in the Republican administration of affairs of the nation. He contrasted the conduct of the affairs of the nation with the conduct of the legal business of his own State of Nebraska, where he said the Democratic attorney general was obeying the law and prosecuting the trusts.

THE SITUATION IN CHINA.

Two Armed Movements—That of the Reformists and the Anti-Foreign Uprising, Led by the Black Flags.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Letters received in diplomatic circles here throw a somewhat better light on the situation in Southern China, where an anti-dynastic uprising is now in progress. The reformist movement there is divided into two distinct parties—one led by Kang-Yu-Wei and the other by Sun-Yat-Sen. The former is agitating for drastic reforms, but wishes to retain the present dynasty, while Sun-Yat-Sen aims at deposing the Dowager Empress and making a clean sweep of the present regime. Sun-Yat-Sen is leading the present rebellion. The last authentic news of his whereabouts was of his presence at Yokohama, three months ago. But since then he is believed to have smuggled himself into Southern China and to be leading the reformist rebel forces, his plan of campaign being the capture of Canton, when, he calculates, the whole of South China will join him. In the event of his seriously threatening Canton, Great Britain and France, possibly, assisted by the other Powers, would be forced to oppose him, which would create a curious situation. The Powers would then be acting against the rebel forces in the South, which are anti-dynastic and friendly to foreigners, and at the same time engaged in suppressing the Boxer rebellion in the north, which is pro-dynastic and anti-foreign. In the meantime, Kang-Yu-Wei is inactive, owing, it is supposed, to the pressure brought to bear on him by Great Britain to which country he owes his liberty if not his life, for he escaped from the clutches of the Dowager Empress on board a British warship some time ago.

At the present moment there are two armed movements in Southern China—that of the reformists, led by Sun-Yat-Sen, anti-foreign, and the pro-dynastic uprising of the Black Flags, who are marching north to assist the Dowager Empress.

CHAIRMAN JONES.

Denies Roosevelt's Charge That He Is Connected With a Trust.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, October 13.—Chairman Jones, of the Democratic National Committee, referring to Governor Roosevelt's association of his name with "private ownership in trusts," said to-day:

"Any statement made by anybody that I am in any way connected with or interested in any organization that is in any sense a trust is absolutely untrue. The charge made that the American Cotton Bale Company is a trust was the occasion of a letter written by me, and published at the time, in which I stated the facts of my connection with that company. That letter explains everything and was published and extensively circulated. If Mr. Roosevelt had wanted to inform himself, he had the opportunity of doing so. If he is a sincere man he will not, after reading that letter, make the statement that the American Cotton Bale Company is a trust. However, there is an old adage that a lie well stuck to is as "good as the truth."

THE SCHREIBER ROBBERY.

Detectives on the Defaulter's Trail—His Arrested Expected Soon.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—State Detective E. B. Kelly, of Summit, N. J., was in Elizabeth this afternoon, where he held a private conference with Judge Gilhooly on the Schreiber robbery. Kelly says he is on the defaulter's trail and is positive Schreiber stopped at Dover, N. J., Wednesday night, in company with a young woman. Kelly has a warrant in his pocket for Schreiber's arrest, which was sworn out by President Heidreter of the Elizabeth bank. The detective says the description given him of the man in Dover as to impediment in speech, size and general appearance tallies with that of the defaulter. Detective Kelly said he thought he would capture Schreiber in a day or two.

ON THE QUESTION OF INDEMNITIES.

A Suggestion from Russia That Meets Approval of Most of the Powers.

ALLIED FORCES IN PEKIN.

The Expedition to Pao Ting Fu—Boxers in Great Force Near That Place. Foreign Diplomats in Pekin Discuss Imperial Edict.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The Russian suggestion that the international court of arbitration of The Hague be given jurisdiction over divergencies of views arising on the question of Chinese indemnities, was submitted to Secretary Hay by M. De Wollant, the Russian charge d'affairs, in Washington, in a note on October 3rd. It has received the adherence of the American, French and Russian governments, thus giving the suggestion the approval of three of the foremost Powers, and a strong assurance of its general adoption. M. De Wollant's note has not been made public. It can be stated, however, that it was the result of extended exchanges between the French and Russian governments relative to the six proposals, and then added new a suggestion relative to giving The Hague tribunal jurisdiction of indemnity in case there should be divergence of views. Not being a formal proposition, but merely an incident to the approval of the French note, it has not called for a formal reply of acceptance; but the Russian authorities have been furnished with a copy of the American reply to the French note, wherein our approval is given to the Russian suggestion, so that it is none the less effective in giving American adherence to the plan. It is understood also that Austria and Italy, and probably Japan look with favor upon The Hague suggestion.

The movement promises to give the first practical realization to the Czar's movements in bringing about the international congress of The Hague. The court of arbitration received the approval of the various governments represented at The Hague, and its formal organization is in progress. The importance the United States attaches to it is indicated by the choice of ex-president Harrison and ex-Senator George Gray, of Delaware as the American members of the tribunal.

The Advance on Pao Ting.

TIEN TSIN, October 12, via Shanghai, October 13.—The expedition against Pao Ting Fu departed in the morning in two columns. The German, French and Italian troops, who are to take part under command of General Bailloud, head of the French military force in China, will follow the direct route to Pao Ting Fu, while 2,000 British soldiers under Lord Campbell will make a detour to the south of Pao Ting river, through a number of large villages supposed to be Boxer communities. Both columns will keep in touch with the boat and train which accompanied them. A junk, armed with a naval 12-pounder and two Maxims, is with the Pekin column. The expedition will make a demonstration through a wide territory not hitherto covered by the allies. While no opposition is expected at Pao Ting Fu, the commanders believe that hostilities are possible in the intervening country.

To Join the Empress.

PARIS, October 13.—A trustworthy cable dispatch from Shanghai says that General Liu, the chief of the Black Flags, has left Canton at the head of a considerable force, and that he will traverse the province of Hu Nan, try to cross the Yang Tse at Ous, and then, traversing the province of Ho Nan, join the Empress at Sian Fu, capital of the province of Shen Si, for the purpose of acting as her body-guard.

The dispatch adds that it is believed that the Dowager Empress will arrive at Sian Fu about October 20th.

Punishment Inadequate.

BERLIN, October 13.—A dispatch received here from Tien Tsin, dated October 12th, says:

At a conference of diplomatists at Pekin, October 8th, the German note of October 1st was discussed. In regard to the first point, whether the list of ringleaders contained in the Chinese Emperor's edict was complete, the conference declared the names of the chief culprits, Tung Fuh Sian and Yu Sin were omitted. On point two, it was decided that the punishment was inadequate. On point three, it was concluded that the penalties must be carried into effect by delegates of the legations.

Expedition to Pao Ting.

WASHINGTON, October 13.—The Japanese legation is in receipt of a dispatch from the Foreign Office, at Tokio, containing a report from the Japanese consul at Tien Tsin to the effect that the allied forces of Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy would on the 12th instant, march upon Pao Ting in three columns, the right under the British commander, the center under the German and the left under the French; and the Japan commander would take charge of the defence of Pekin.

Boxers in Great Force.

PEKIN, Thursday, Oct. 11.—The Boxers are in great force east and west of Pao Ting Fu. Chinese official reports are that the Imperial troops defeated the Boxers with heavy loss; but intelligence gathered from allies and other sources indicate that the Chinese troops were defeated.

Moving on Canton.

LONDON, October 14.—It is reported from Canton, says a special dispatch from Shanghai, that the rebels have captured Wei Chou city on East river and that the Imperial troops lost sixty killed. The rebels, according to these advices, attacked Tung Koon on last Thursday. If successful in their attack upon Tung Koon they will march upon Sung Tong, and thence upon Canton.

Li Hung Chang at Pekin.

LONDON, October 14.—A special dispatch from Tien Tsin, under date of October 12th, announces the arrival at Pekin of Li Hung Chang.

According to a special dispatch from Hong Kong the rebels have again defeated the army of Admiral Ho, who was pursuing them in a northeasterly direction from San Chun, killing forty and capturing many of the imperial troops.

The dispatch adds that the condition of Canton is shaky, as the troops there have been greatly depleted.

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—The Lokal Anzeiger's Shanghai correspondent telegraphs that the consuls have informed the Taotai that the garrisons will be increased, owing to the threatening aspect of the situation. The Pao Ting Fu expedition is regarded as a strategic move against Chief Sian-Fu, to be followed by a similar expedition up the Yang Tse Kiang, at Hankow, cutting off Sian-Fu from all outside resources.

Ten thousand Sse-Chuen rebels are marching on Truchon-Fu.

BRYAN WILL BE ELECTED.

Forecast of the Election by the People's Party National Committee—Classification of States.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LINCOLN, NEB., October 13.—The following statement over the signature of J. A. Edgerton, the secretary, was given out to-night by the Peoples' Party National Committee:

"Bryan will be elected; he has lost none of the support he had in 1896, except a few silver Republicans in the mountain States. Of these there will not be enough to affect a single electoral vote. He will hold his own west of the Mississippi and will carry every State in the region that he carried in '96, with the possible exception of Wyoming. He will gain heavily in the central West and East; he will not only have all the Democrats and Populists who supported him in '96, but added to these he will receive the votes of a large number of gold Democrats and former Republicans who have left their party on the issues of imperialism and trusts.

"The following States may be classed as certain to cast their electoral vote for Bryan: Alabama 11, Arkansas 8, Colorado 4, Forida 4, Georgia 13, Idaho 3, Louisiana 8, Mississippi 9, Missouri 17, Montana 3, Nebraska 8, Nevada 3, North Carolina 11, South Carolina 9, Tennessee 12, Texas 15, Utah 3, Virginia 12. Total, 153.

"Add to these the following States, which will probably cast their votes for Bryan: Illinois 24, Indiana 15, Washington 4, Kentucky 13, Maryland 8, South Dakota 4, West Virginia, 6. Total, 84.

"These, added to 153 certain, give 237, or thirteen more than a majority in the electoral college.

Outside of these certain and probable States are the following doubtful: California 9, Connecticut 6, Delaware 3; Michigan 14, Minnesota 9, New Jersey 10, New York 36, North Dakota 3, Ohio 23, Wisconsin 12, Wyoming 3. Total 128.

GERMANY AND THE CHINESE SITUATION.

The Hague Suggestion Discussed as Impracticable—America's Answer to France Generally Approved.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

BERLIN, October 13.—The United States' answer to the French note may be said to be generally approved here, neither the press nor the government desiring to affront France by openly urging objections. A number of papers express astonishment at the fact that the United States has so rapidly reassumed a more energetic attitude towards China, and attributes the change to Secretary Hay.

The Cologne Volks Zeitung points out that the United States' "sweeping demands," including Prince Tuan's execution and the United States withdrawal of troops, are "contradictory" and inexplainable only "by the intricacies of the present political campaign."

The Hague Suggestion.

A Foreign Office official informed a representative of the Associated Press who questioned him regarding the Hague suggestion, that this plan is impracticable, since the work of estimating the damages must be done in China. Arbitration, he added, would cause great delay, pointing out that arbitration was "merely suggested by Russia."

Regarding the claim for damages, the Foreign Office official said: "Germany has not yet been able to take a definite attitude on the subject. Russia's suggestion is not definite enough. It can hardly be supposed that Russia intends to submit the claims of Russia and those of the other Powers to the arbitration court. Probably Russia means pre-eminently those damages which China must pay to the missions destroyed by the Boxers and to private persons injured in the excesses. In that case, this proposition would be worth considering, although its practical realization is difficult. It must not be forgotten that the international arbitration court at The Hague is not yet organized. Therefore, it would seem that a decision can more fully be reached by an arbitration court meeting in China."

The Craving For Stimulants.

The blood normally contains stimulants, and that these stimulants exercise a favoring influence on function and conduce to and may even be a necessary factor in the production of the feeling of well being explains the widespread liking in man and beast for stimulating substances. This liking, amounting often to a craving, is the expression of a great physiological principle. When health is perfect, when the blood is well provided with its proper stimulants and not overcharged with depressants, there is no craving for extraneous stimulants, such as alcohol, tea or coffee, but when the blood is defective in the one or surcharged with the other then is felt the desire for the glass of wine or the cup of tea.

In order to obviate this desire the body should be kept at the highest level of health. The more perfect the health the more perfect will be the composition of the blood in respect to both physiological stimulants and deleterious toxins. A blood properly constituted in these and other respects will exercise a gentle stimulant action on the nervous system and induce a condition of mild physiological intoxication, which expresses itself in a feeling of well being and happiness—a condition that cannot be bettered.—Lancet.
